

The new freelancer chronograph for men, where technical expertise meets contemporary design

Paying homage to the family firm's independence and the visionary spirit of its founder, the freelancer collection introduces its latest timepiece – a fusion of sporty, contemporary styling and technical performance.

The automatic movement on the freelancer 7740 SC3 65521 powers a chronograph allowing the precise measurement of intervals of time. The steel case features a blue hard coated PVD tachymeter bezel housing a silver dial dotted with blue counters and a date window between 4 and 5 o'clock. The watch is mounted on a perforated calfskin leather strap.

Two alternate versions of the freelancer 7740 SC3 65521 are available, one with a black dial and yellow hands, the other with a silver dial and red hands matching the stitching on the strap.

With its strong personality, the freelancer 7740 SC3 65521 is perfectly designed for the active man.

RAYMOND WEIL

Swiss watchmaker RAYMOND WEIL belongs to the limited circle of independent family companies creating elegant and refined watches for men and women. Founded in 1976 and now under the leadership of the founder's grandson, Elie Bernheim, the Geneva-based Company continues to develop and consolidate its status among the leading names of the Swiss watch industry.

With 40 years of experience, RAYMOND WEIL benefits from Switzerland's centuries of carefully handed-down watchmaking skills and know-how. Precision, quality, reliability, nobility and technical nature of the materials are many standards that RAYMOND WEIL combines to meet the prerequisites of the much sought-after "Swiss made" label.

From its early beginnings, RAYMOND WEIL has been imbued with a deep affinity for music and the Arts. The Swiss watchmaker composes its timepieces the way musicians compose their chef d'oeuvres and demonstrates its musical and artistic influences through its various collections. Music drives the Brand's creativity and is also at the heart of all its partnerships worldwide with renowned artists, iconic music brands, emblematic concert halls, awards ceremonies and music-related charities.
