

TANGO – A NEW TEMPO

This year, RAYMOND WEIL's novelties are dancing to a new rhythm, that of the tango. The collection with its refined and sensual lines offers a completely new design. More contemporary, always just as elegant and gracious, the tango remains master of the art of the precision movement. For the first time, the collection combines rose gold with steel, to the great pleasure of the lovers of two-tone models.

Available in ladies and gents versions, tango the complete harmony of an Argentine dancing couple. The various models marry vigor and sensuality, exuding distinction through the balance of their proportions and the clear signature on their bezels, where a change of tempo, has six decorations in the form of screws now replacing the twelve pearls.

The tango Two-tone Rose, for its part, sees its 39mm steel case enhanced with rose gold on its bezel, crown and the two central rows of its bracelet links. The white dial is embellished with a "star" decor in its central zone surrounded by a circle of black Roman numerals, providing this masculine model with a timeless character. With its quartz movement, the tango Two-tone Rose will continue to set the rhythm for the dance of the RAYMOND WEIL collection.
