

FREELANCER BLACK 8

With its glamorous look, magical diamonds and the power of black, the latest model from the freelancer mechanical collection exudes a devastatingly chic, sensual and elegantly modern feel.

A watch of refined sensitivity, the Freelancer Black 8 alludes to the universal lucky number – the symbol of both prosperity and the infinite. A figure eight is delicately outlined on the black guilloché dial, with 12 sparkling diamonds around its voluptuous curves.

The 38mm case in polished and brushed steel, and the circular bezel studded with diamonds selected for their exceptional purity, underscore the new timepiece's stylish minimalism.

Renowned for achieving a perfect balance between technical prowess and design, RAYMOND WEIL Watches has not merely lavished special attention on the aesthetics of this new timepiece, but also nurtured its horological identity by granting it a mechanical movement with automatic winding, and a fitted balance that is visible inside the figure eight.

Adding a final touch of class, the full-skin, saddle-stitched alligator strap matches the dial's glamorous tones, fitting snugly to the wrist thanks to its folding clasp with double push-piece security.
